

A poem

Earth Day

→ Manuel p. 109

1. The lines in stanza 1 mixed up! Work in pairs and write the lines in the correct place.

And the Earth is me.

Is blood and muscle

honey tree,

Each

I am the Earth

Each blade of grass,

Each bit of mud,

And stick and stone

Skin and bone.

2. Read the entire poem p. 109 and tick the correct answers.

- ☐ a. The Earth is like a human body.
- ☐ b. Every part of Earth is important.
- ☐ c. The Earth isn't important at all.
- ☐ d. The Earth isn't alive.
- ☐ e. The poet celebrates the Earth.

3. GAME TIME! Work in pairs. Choose a stanza and learn it by heart with your classmate. Decide which lines you're going to say and say your stanza to the class.